Miss Mary Catherine Kahl has been a guiding light during the past four years of our college life. Administration

As an integral part of our college, the faculty and staff are deserving of an important place in this volume. Their faithful guidance and understanding are invaluable aids for all students of S. T. C. As willing advisers, the members of the faculty are frequently called upon for advice, and, as teachers, they cannot be surpassed. With the other administrators of the college, our new President, Dr. Hawkins, has given of his boundless energy to make S. T. C. one of the best teachers' colleges in the country. Of this we are proud, and for this we will strive to preserve her name.

The President

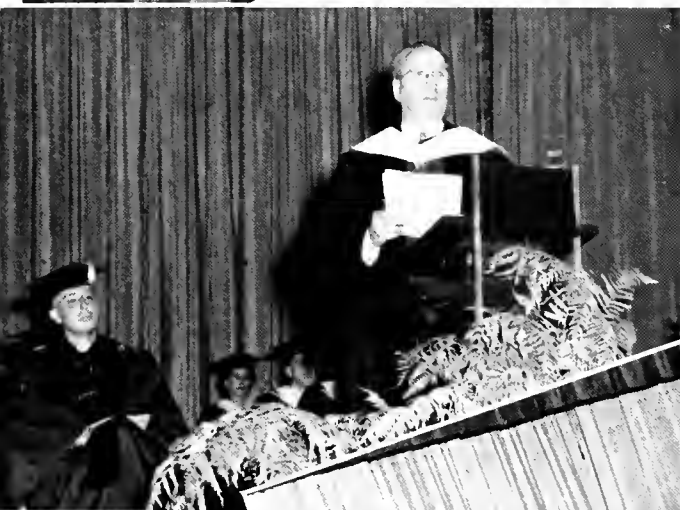

President Hawkins

On January 17th Dr. Earle Taylor Hawkins was inaugurated as third president and eighth administrator of the State Teachers College at Towson. More than one hundred delegates from leading colleges of the country, school officials, special guests, and members of the faculty of this college participated in the academic procession which began the impressive ceremony. Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., Superintendent of the Schools in the State of Maryland, was the presiding officer.

Dr. Hawkins was inducted by Dr. Tasker G. Lowndes, President of the State Board of Education and the Board of Trustees.

The principal speaker was Dr. Clyde M. Hill, Sterling Professor of Education and Chairman of the Department of Education of Yale University, who himself is a former teacher and a personal friend of Dr. Hawkins. Governor William P. Lane, Jr. expressed confidence in Dr. Hawkins and stated that the goal of Maryland educators is to give this state the finest educational system in America.

With this official inauguration Dr. Hawkins received the rights and privileges of the office of President of the State Teachers College.

Dr. Hawkins, a native Marylander, is one of the most outstanding educators of the day. His inspiring personality and energetic administrative ability account greatly for the progress and growth of the college during this year.

The Faculty

The State Board of Education and Trustees of S. T. C. include Tasker G. Lowndes, President; Thomas G. Pullen, Jr.; Wendell D. Allen; Harry Y. George; Horace M. Morgan; Mrs. Alvin Thalheimer; Oscar B. Coblentz; and Nicholas Orem.

Towson State Teachers College has a history that dates back to January 15, 1866. From then until 1931 it continued as a normal school providing two years training for elementary school teacher. In 1915 the school for county students moved to the present site at Towson. The Baltimore Training School for the city students moved its school to Towson in 1924 where the two year course continued until 1931 when it was increased to three years.

Finally on May 25, 1934, the four year course was introduced and the school's name was changed to the State Teachers College in 1935. When, in 1946, the need arose, a junior college division was installed in school and in 1947 a junior high school department was added.

Six buildings and an eighty-eight acre campus compose the college community at Towson. No doubt the administration building is the center of most of the school activity. In here are located the executive offices, the auditorium, the lecture rooms and classrooms, the laboratories, and the library. In the library, located in the north wing are thirty-seven thousand volumes, references, pictures, and periodicals. Another branch of the library is the curriculum laboratory which has as its purpose to familiarize students with materials of instruction and to provide opportunities for teachers' groups to work on curriculum problems.

Also, on campus is the six grade elementary school, which the college uses as an observation and demonstration school. Called the Lida Lee Tall School, it is named for Dr. Tall, principal and president of the college from 1920-1938, through whose efforts the building was secured.

Living quarters for the women students are found in Newell and Richmond Halls. Newell Hall, named for Dr. M. A. Newell, is the main dormitory and contains the dining room and infirmary besides the students' rooms. Men on the campus are housed in the cottage and the Barracks. Several men live in regular rooms in the cottage and temporary quarters were set up in the Barracks to accommodate the overflow.

The highly qualified and competent faculty has as chairman of its various departments: Dr. Crabtree, English; Mrs. Brouwer, Art; Dr. Scott, Education; Dr. Minnegan, Physical Education; Dr. West, Science; Mr. von Schwerdtner, Foreign Language; Dr. Dowell, Health; ball, volleyball, and softball for the girls, while Miss Daniels handles the tennis, badminton, and archery. In the men's field, Dr. Minnegan takes care of the soccer team (with Jack Hart), the basketball and track teams. Wrestling and baseball are coached by Mr. von Schwerdtner, while Dr. McCleary helps the tennis players.

The State Teachers College advisory system is ideally constructed with both faculty and students participating. Members of the faculty cooperate with students of the Freshman Advisory Council to act as advisers to new freshmen during their first year. Guidance and personal help are given to the new students on the basis of their personal records and individual problems.

Classes

These pages show you the classes which symbolize the growth and maturity of the students. The influence of college life is strong upon the undergraduates, who strive to make their mark in campus activities. As the journey through the arch begins, life seems grim and hard; but as the other side is reached, one realizes that the weather-beaten buildings hold a vast beauty that will blossom into the unexplored vistas of future life. Thus, as Seniors, we go into the future with open eyes, open mind, and open heart, ready to take the bitter with the sweet in all life's episodes.

The big rush is on!

First Row: K. Miller, D. Chenworth, B. A. Spruill, I. Leonard, R. DeHoff. Second Row: A. M. Kerber, M. Pennington, D. Miller, S. McFadden, J. Downing.

Senior Class

Enumerating all the important things that have happened to us during four years would be a difficult job indeed, so let us remember just some of the most significant items about the senior class in its four years of progress.

First of all, we won fame early in our school career by winning the plaque for Demonstration Night when we were just freshmen.

As sophomores we continued to participate in all school activities, and when we became juniors we introduced a new feature in the social life at S. T. C. for we inaugurated a "Sweetheart Dance" which was held on Valentine's Day.

In our last year, as seniors, we have made our most notable accomplishment—this yearbook.

In September, 1945, the class of '49 began its career at the State Teachers College, having the distinction of being the first to enter after V-J Day. We were the largest class in the school at that time and were very proud of our roster of male members—three, to be exact! Freshman Week, with its round of teas, parties, and meetings left us somewhat breathless, but we managed to come through with flying colors. Under the leadership of our adviser, Dr. Hartley, we entered into all the activities of the school and planned some events of our own. The party which the Sophomore Class gave us and the one which we gave in return, were both memorable occasions. We were making our class known in the line of sports, too. At the Women's A. A. assembly that year, some of our girls won the intramural volleyball tournament. An especially noteworthy event on our calendar was the Freshman Glen Party. This found us taking advantage of the lovely weather in the shelter of the Glen. We dined on hot-dogs and marshmallows and danced under the stars.

Our second year at the college was a red letter one in our history. As sophomores we made even more important contributions to the life of the school. Even sophomore exams failed to daunt us. Our members were active in all school organizations. Our big moment was Demonstration Night, 1947. None of us will ever forget the thrill of winning the contest. Though the decision was a close one we were tremendously proud of our victory. In April we staged a successful April Showers Dance and on May Day we paid homage to the court by dancing around the May Poles. Later on, some of us were inducted into the Freshman Advisory Council to help with new students.

This year, the Class of '49 is busier than ever before. With the education block and student teaching, our training has become much more professional. In keeping with the spirit of the Forty-niners, some of us are pioneering it as the first S. T. C. students to enter the new junior high school program. Busy as we are we still managed to find time to team up with the Class of '48 for a try at Demonstration Night and once again we won. We also took advantage of the calendar to give the Wooden Shoe Dance.

Committees are already at work planning our senior activities. Our yearbook staff has been elected and is beginning to function and we are laying the groundwork for many other events. The Class of '49 is preparing to take the place as leading class of the school.

In the fall of 1946, S. T. C. received a different kind of freshman class. This group was unique in that it was composed of would-be teachers plus students of the newly-formed Junior College. It also marked the reappearance of a war scarcity—men. Ranging in age from seventeen to thirty-two years, the class of 1950 proved that variety is the spice of life. Men and women veterans became a part of the college atmosphere, and it was a common event for a veteran to be mistaken for an instructor. The class numbered approximately two hundred and fifty with the fair sex in the majority by a two to one ratio.

During the past two years, the sophomore class has done much to contribute to school spirit and to become a true asset to the college. Its members are active in every group and, in many instances, are presiding officers of the various organizations. For instance, the Variety Show is directed by Ken Weber; the Varsity Club is presided over by Warren Stroh; Bud Ritter is president of the Men's A. A.; the F. A. C. leader is John Norris; and Ed Cline and Don Leuschner edit the Tower Light. Last, but by no means least, Bill Riordan has been the popular president of the class for two years, and it is through his efforts that the class has progressed so successfully. As a result of the recent elections Bob Eads is president of the class, and Warren Stroh is chief executive of the S. G. A.

The class is versatile, having not only many high-ranking scholars, but also boasting of outstanding athletes, who fill the ranks of the varsity lineups. Much of this athletic success is due to the quiet, friendly efficiency of its faculty adviser, Mr. Ernest O. von Schwerdtner.

June of 1948 will see the departure of the Junior College students, who will transfer to other colleges. We will sincerely miss them, and hope that more than once they will recall pleasant memories of their Alma Mater.

The September sun was beginning to lose its light amid the shadows of the trees in the glen. But in the dying rays of the sun, new life was being transfused into the State Teachers College. Gathered in this select part of the campus were two hundred and twenty-five young men and women who had just taken the oath of allegiance which would start them on the road as the class of '51. Just a few days before, these same students had taken their entrance examinations as a disorganized group of separate individuals. But this evening the extended hand of friendship clasped them firmly together as the Freshman Class.

For two months the young class organized itself and silently watched the older classes' pattern of procedure. Finally the class saw the time when they should put into practice the many lessons their patient watching had taught them. In their social debut the Freshmen chose for a theme a colorful Broadway production—"Carousel". With unusual and spontaneous cooperation among its members, the new class coordinated new ideas, new publicity, and new decorations. November 22, 1947 brought to the campus the most talked about dance of the year. The meaning of the publicized mystery word, CAFEITT, proved true—Carousel, A Freshman First, Is The Tops.

In February, our newness began to wear off as a new freshman (mid-year) class enrolled in the school. At the beginning of this second semester we again elected class officers. The new pilots chartered plans for class events to be held during the few remaining months of our first year. Of prime interest to all was the informal "coke and juke box dance" held in the foyer one afternoon. The highlight of the afternoon was the introduction of our class song.

The year has drawn to a close. Our first steps were shaky but we have so improved and strengthened ourselves that our strides now match those of the rest of the school. We look to our past with proud satisfaction; to the future we look with hopeful confidence of continued success and friendship.

Activities

S. T. C. is made up of many seemingly unrelated activities, but there is a thread of unity, which links them together to form a great organization devoted to progress. Every activity has some purpose, some value, else there would be no reason for its existence. We show you here the clubs and organizations that are so much a part of the college life. Included in this group are the governing bodies which guide the activity of the school, the popular publications, those clubs who entertain us, and those other groups which mold our opinions and make college life more fruitful.

The Student Government Association is composed of all students enrolled in the college. Through this organization, the student body voices its opinions and regulates college life in a democratic fashion.

The preamble of the constitution of the S. G. A. aptly sets forth its purposes, "to assume individually and collectively our share of the responsibility for the conduct of our college life, and thus to promote loyalty, self-control, and democracy in the college community."

The details of business are conducted by an executive board. This board consists of the officers and advisers of the S. G. A. plus special representatives from each class, class presidents, and representatives from each of the major college organizations. It is to this board that the Association delegates its power.

During the year 1947-48, the S. G. A. has advanced many new proposals and activities. A proposal was made for a student-operated milk bar. Revision of the constitution to meet the need of a larger enrollment and the institution of the Junior College has been suggested. A plan was approved for the presentation of awards to non-athletic organizations.

S. G. A. is more than an organization. It is practice in democratic living.

House Committee

OFFICERS

President	Sara Jane Young
Vice-President	Gwen Blizzard
Secretary	Marie Sanderson
Treasurer	Jean Routzahn
Social Chairman	Carol Hill
Freshman Representative	Pat Dougherty
Faculty Adviser	Azile M. Fletcher

The House Committee is the student-governing organization of the dormitory. Its powers are delegated by the resident student body. The Committee meets once a week to discuss matters of importance or to deal with violations of dormitory regulations. When necessary, house meetings of the entire resident student body are held.

The House Committee is more, however, than a governmental instrument. Besides reorganizing the house constitution, the Committee began a record collection. These records, based on student choice, may be borrowed by the resident students. Sunday record concerts in Richmond Hall parlor were a natural outgrowth of this collection. Other activities included many parties and entertainments. Before Christmas, the students conducted a highly successful drive to send food to Europe through CARE.

This year, with enrollment greater than ever before, the regulation of dormitory life has been an even greater challenge to the students and faculty advisers. Through cooperation, understanding, and a sense of humor, this challenge has been met.

As student government represents a democratic working together, so the House Committee represents practice in the gentle art of living together.

White and Gold

In September of 1947, the WHITE and GOLD came into being. Cooperative classmates and students willingly gave their time and effort to help make this publication a success. Numerous school affairs were photographed, and, in order to remember our college, many scenes of campus life have been included as well as seniors, faculty, classes, and clubs.

The editors of the WHITE and GOLD thank Mr. Stephen H. White of the Horn-Shafer Company for his technical recommendations on printing and lay-out, his patience with the staff and his personal interest in the success of this volume. We also thank Mr. Paul Dorsey of Dorsey-News-pix, the official photographer for the 1948 WHITE and GOLD. And to those innumerable students and faculty members whose extra cooperation and time made this volume possible, we give our very special thanks.

Tower Light

The Tower Light, formerly a literary publication, became a bi-weekly newspaper at the beginning of this year. With a capable staff it was able to weather the storm of the first year. Taking the lead in many of the controversial issues, the editorial policy did much to influence opinions that were being formed.

The T. L. office, always a beehive of activity, was the scene of informal discussions, many of which appeared before the students in the pages of the paper.

Not soon to be forgotten was a column by the editor, Ed Cline. His wit and satire from "The Once Over" was eagerly anticipated and read by all. Bill Wood and Bob Goodman did excellent jobs as managing and advertising managers.

The Glen Players is the dramatic society of the college. Any student who is interested in dramatics may become a member of the Players.

The Players are concerned not only with the glamorous aspect of drama but also with the practical and the more laborious tasks of stagecraft—makeup, costuming, scenery construction, and stage lighting. Members receive a thorough foundation in all aspects of staging and drama.

This year the Glen Players presented several plays in cooperation with the Stagecraft class. These plays included The Beau of Bath, Spreading the News, and Sham.

Organized in the spring of 1947, the Variety Show has met with great enthusiasm from the student body. As an organization that is open to everyone who is interested, it is unique in the fact that it is independent of and draws no funds from the S. G. A.

In its infancy the group had a struggle to make ends meet. They came out on top, however, and now the V. S. is a healthy, thriving organization.

The Chimes Guild, composed of resident students and under student leadership, provides the grace at dinner and for special occasions in the college. Not only does the Guild continue in this tradition but it also provides an outlet for student talent. Some members have learned to play the chimes while others concentrate on singing. This year, with the increased enrollment of men, the Chimes Guild has, for the first time, included a men's group.

The purpose of the Student Christian Association is to provide a means by which students of various denominations and faiths may come together in worship, fellowship, and fun. This organization presents assemblies at Thanksgiving and Easter, chapel and vesper services with well-known clergymen or students as speakers. Under fellowship and fun come socials (after business meetings), "pajama parties", and discussion groups. S. C. A. also sponsors a World Student Service Fund drive which provides aid for students in war-torn countries.

The Student Christian Association Choir, under the direction of Miss Hazel MacDonald, is composed of twenty-two resident women students. It is a selected group and meets once a week for rehearsals.

The choir sings once a month for the vesper services of the Student Christian Association. Frequently the group is invited to sing at various churches in the community and in previous years, concerts have been given. The choir provides the music for the traditional Easter pageant produced each year by the S. C. A.

Freshman Advisory Council

Secretary-Treasurer	Glyndon Bell
S. G. A. Representative	Bob Eads

The Freshman Advisory Council is a comparatively new organization in the college, having begun its third year this past February. Its purpose is to help orient the freshmen and to make them feel at home in a new and different community. Each freshman is assigned a student adviser who, as a friend and counselor, makes that first, all-important year an easier one. In this way, the freshmen and upperclassmen become a closer-knit group through mutual acquaintances.

In helping the freshmen get off to a good start in college, the F. A. C. helps them to a fuller and more meaningful college career.

Athletics

Sports, too, play their part in the life of a college. It is through athletics that the American student learns to take care of himself, to cooperate with teammates, to play fairly, and to give the best he has—win, lose, or draw. He takes pride in his performance and tries to improve it. Everyone cannot be a varsity athlete, but intramural sports offer the same enjoyment and pride in achievement, that the varsity athletes, who carry the college laurels, enjoy. Whether we play the game, represent the organization, or cheer for the team, we shall all be prepared to play the game of life.

The Women's Athletic Association at State Teachers College offers to all women students, regardless of ability, an opportunity to participate in a well-planned athletic program. According to the constitution of the W. A. A., the purpose of the organization is to "work cooperatively with the Student Government Association to promote athletics in the college, to create a more vigorous school spirit, and to sponsor recreational activities for women students."

The business of the organization is transacted by its executive board which is composed of the four major officers of the organization, and the seasonal managers, who are Betty Bedsworth, June Crickenberger, Pat Froelich, Barbara Kyle, Evelyn Sylvester and Kitty Roderuck.

The faculty adviser, Miss Mary Elizabeth

Roach, and the head cheerleader, Caroline Kennedy, are also members of the executive board.

To achieve its aim as sponsor of recreational activities for the women students on campus, the elective system was established whereby everyone is given the opportunity to participate in all the sports and to receive special awards for participation. The elective program is so planned that adequate sports are provided for everyone and so scheduled that each student is able to participate in more than one elective. Electives offered during the year are hockey, basketball, badminton, bowling, softball, volleyball, and archery.

Class numerals are awarded to the student earning 65 points, a letter for 135 points, a star for 185 points, and the highest award for 300 points.

Although the W. A. A. encourages competitive sports, its main purpose is to promote and inspire good sportsmanship among its fellow members and to arouse a keener desire for making athletics a "must" in their college program.

Men's Athletic Association

President	Howard Ritter
Secretary	John Costlow
Treasurer	Deane Wyatt
Faculty Adviser	Donald Minnegan

Every man entering the Towson State Teachers College is a member of the Men's Athletic Association. It is governed by student officers, managers of sports and members of the faculty. Its purpose is to organize and conduct the intramural games for the men and to provide inter-collegiate sports such as soccer, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, and wrestling.

The Men's A. A. tries to promote interest and participation in athletics, and fosters school spirit by encouraging students to win and wear their college letter.

Varsity Club

President	Warren Stroth
Vice-President	Frank Glebas
Secretary	John Costlow
Treasurer	Deane Wyatt
Social Chairman	Bud Ritter

The Varsity Club which has been an inactive organization for over six years, was reorganized in 1947. Twelve lettermen—ten from last year's basketball team and two returning veterans—formed the nucleus of the club. New members were added with the awarding of letters to the men on the baseball, track, soccer, tennis, and wrestling teams.

The purpose of the club is to promote school spirit, conduct intramurals, and provide activities for its members.

Women's Hockey

The athletic program of the W. A. A. begins early in the fall with the ever popular game of hockey. For the students who have never taken part in the game before, it offers variety and a new challenge in sports; for those students who are already familiar with the rules and techniques of the game, it gives an opportunity to become more experienced players.

Women's Basketball

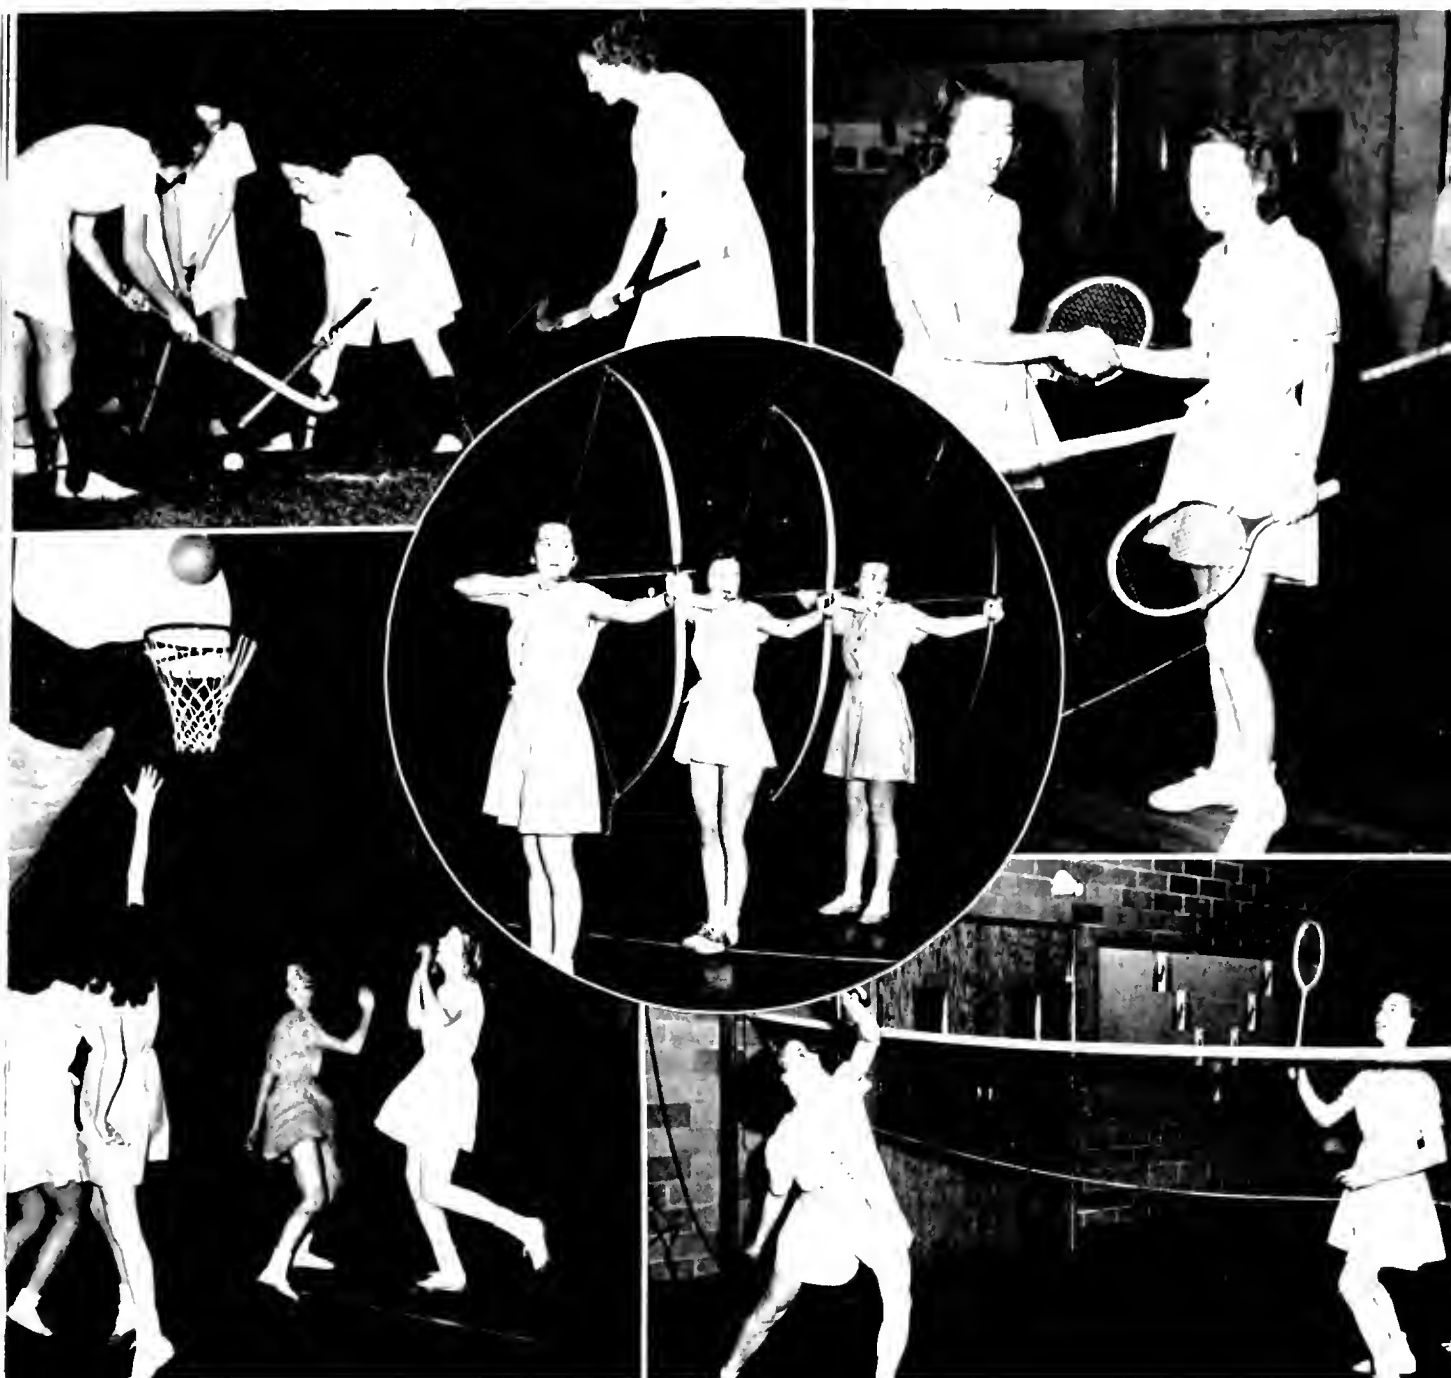

A must in every athletic program is basketball. This is a fast-moving game which affords the needed exercise for those who desire the more strenuous activities. As is the case with most of the electives, basketball is a popular inter-collegiate sport although varsity is not emphasized. In this way, not only the very skilled, but all who come out get a chance to display their abilities on the court. If it's action and good fun you want, look to basketball and find it.

Cheerleaders

Adding school spirit to State Teachers College this year were the cheerleaders. Their duties consisted of functioning at all scheduled games, participating at S. G. A. pep meetings, and attending a practice period of thirty minutes once a week. Cheerleading letters are awarded to those who fulfill these requirements.

For many years the cheerleaders were unorganized, and it has only been in the last two years that the squad has actually participated in raising school spirit and backing the hard fighting teams.

Anyone is eligible to try out for the squad in September. After three weeks of training classes conducted by old cheerleaders, candidates are judged and chosen. These are this year's cheerleaders:

Soccer

After a lapse of six years, S.T.C. resumed soccer as a major sport in the fall of 1947.

Dr. Minnegan, Director of Athletics, realized that this was an opportune time to renew this sport, in view of the fact that Jack Hart, one of the outstanding soccer players in this section, was returning to the college to resume his senior studies, after six years of army service. Jack was the logical man to coach the team.

Approximately twenty men reported for practice and after weeks of hard work, Coach Hart molded a team.

"Erv" Bueneman tended goal at the first part of the season, but was forced to resign due to other obligations. Jules DeFries, who took over his duties, gave a good account of himself between the uprights. The fullback positions were held down by Bob Timlin and Bill Kern; player-coach Jack Hart, Fred Panetti, Andy Baummer, Keith Rembold, Bill Scott, and John Lowe performed in the halfback positions. The forward line was made up of Don Taylor, Nick Hoddinott, Jim Hottes, Francis Lawrence, Herb Westphal, Jim Neary, Jack Shiflett, and Grafton Eliason. For the 1947-48 season Dick Baldwin served as manager.

For a first year team the club gave a very good account of itself. The improvement in teamwork as the season progressed was obvious. Although the team lost all of its six games, it definitely was a hard fighting, high spirited ball club. In addition its coach, Jack Hart, was chosen to compete for a position on the U. S. Olympic Soccer Team.

Spectators express both joy and gloom at the game with University of Baltimore.

Basketball

The Towson Teachers College Knights under the competent guidance of Coach Donald Minnegan opened their '47-'48 basketball season with hopes of retaining their Maryland-D. C. Teachers College championship, which they captured in '46-'47. They also hoped to gain a position in the Mason-Dixon Conference playoffs, a feat they failed to achieve last year by one game.

The Knights played their hardest tussles in December after capturing their opening contest with an overwhelming victory over the Alumni—77-38. They tangled with the '46-'47 Mason-Dixon Champs, Loyola, and came home with a moral victory—37-47. Gallaudet was met and defeated, but American University all but slaughtered the Knights in Washington.

The two closest contests in conference play were against Catholic U. The Knights lost both games but gained the everlasting respect of the foes from Washington. Bridgewater, Gallaudet and Washington College fell easily before the Knights although the latter score wasn't the true story of how easily the Towson boys conquered the Shoremen.

In the Teachers College competition, the Knights triumphed over Frostburg and Salisbury with no effort at all.

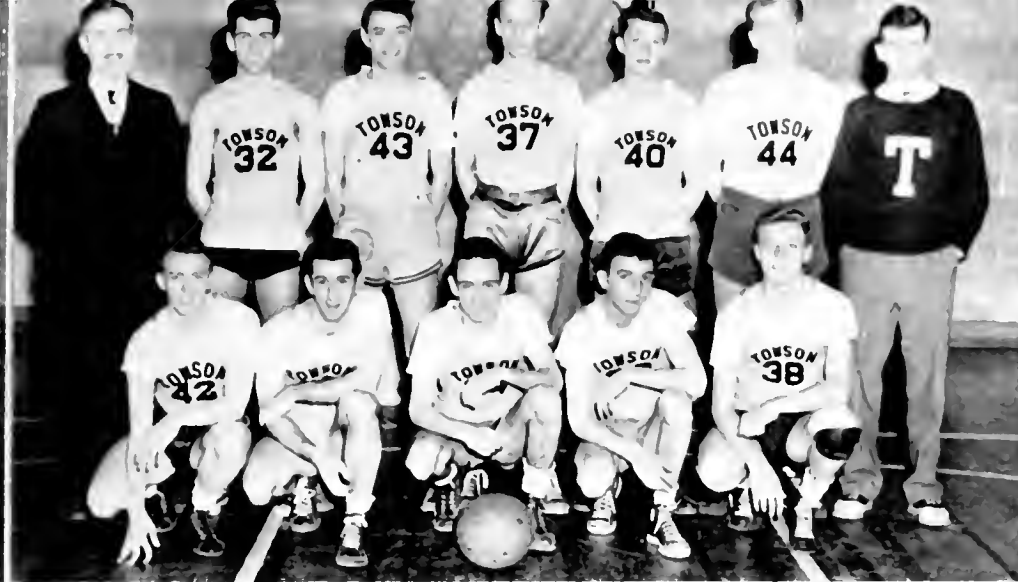

Here is close-up of each man:

* Games won

"Fire in the hole" Buck Kimmett gets set for a pass.

Frank Glebas, on an out-of-bounds play, is ready to lay the ball up on the board.

George Laubecker of Catholic University takes the rebound.

First row: G. Eliason, Manager, B. Riordan, N. Petrovich, J. Lowe, D. Handler, E. Klein. Second row: K. Rembold, A. Fort, M. Marken, G. Krause.

Baseball

Evidence of interest in the first baseball team to be organized at S. T. C. since before the war was shown by the number of men who came out for the squad. Under the competent coaching of Mr. Ernest O. von Schwerdtner, the team rapidly took shape.

Although the Knights did not have a victorious season, they never lacked fighting spirit.

Outstanding performers on the newly formed team were first baseman Keith Rembold, who had the highest batting average, outfielders Nick Petrovich and Jim Darnaby, and hurler Charles Miller. Other members of the squad were Gene Krause, Bill Riordan, John Lowe, Miles Marken, Andy Baummer, Al Fort, and Grafton Eliason, manager.

Wrestling

Our '48 wrestling team was a credit to S. T. C. Although we are the smallest school in the conference, we put a fighting squad on the mats.

The groaners were ably coached by Mr. von Schwerdtner. Outstanding among the performers were little Whitey Lawrence at 121 pounds; Denny Psoras at 165 pounds; and Bill Riordan at 175 pounds. Others on the squad were Herb Westphal at 136 pounds, Bill Jenkins at 145 pounds, Andy Baummer at 155 pounds, and Romagnoli in the heavyweight division.

This squad was the first official wrestling team ever to be organized at S. T. C. Our hats are off to them because, although comparatively inexperienced, they made themselves known in the Mason-Dixon Conference.

First row: A. Baummer, F. Lawrence, J. Cerrata, H. Westphal, B. Jenkins, B. Scott. Second row: M. Romagnoli, J. Lowe, B. Riordan, J. St. Leger, J. Foster, Manager.

Get ready!

Grand scramble for the ball!

Congratulations!

Time out for a rest!

living and social activities prevail.*

Book 5

Features

The social life of any student is an important part of his career. Through his social experiences he learns how to get along with all types of people and how to spend his leisure hours profitably and enjoyably.

To put these ideas into practice the college offers many diversions from the academic program in which all students may participate. Among these are dances, parties, formal and informal dinners, athletic activities, and dorm life in general.

Through both the planned and unplanned experiences we increase not only the number of our friends and acquaintances but also our ability to live and share with others.

A meeting place—the stone bridge in the glen.

Dances

Dances are highlights on the social calendar of any college. For after the flurry of decorating the gym, selling tickets, and finding an orchestra, comes the fun of the dance itself. The class of '48 likes to look back on many such dances.

Last year we held a sweetheart dance to celebrate Valentine's Day. Each section chose a sweetheart and at the dance Phyllis Keseling was selected as the Towson Sweetheart. We hoped to establish a tradition for future February dances.

In our senior year the Harvest Moon Hop was our first venture into the social whirl. The gym, scene of many dances, was gaily decorated in an autumn theme.

In contrast to these dances was the barn dance. Melvin Buckingham called the figures. Between dances Madame Swami held forth in her tent. Refreshments were served to the dancers who were really "put through their paces." Everyone had a wonderful, if strenuous, time and we regretted that more students didn't turn out.

The May Day dance is one of the college traditions. Decorations are in keeping with the May theme. The May Court is presented and this year, of course, was our year. May Day made us realize that our senior year was ending.

Variety Show

"Huh! Spring fever! No more tonics for me," said Grandma as she renovated her medicine cabinet. For you see, the evening before, she had viewed the Variety Show's "Sulphur and Molasses." This show was produced and sponsored by an ambitious group of students who wished to bring about a different type of social activity at the college.

Our thanks go out to Kenneth Weber, the director, and the rest of this group for reviving the tradition of an annual variety show. We wish the Variety Show continued success in future years, especially since its funds are to be used to sponsor other student endeavors.

Christmas Banquet

The dormitory Christmas dinner and celebration was a grand climax to the 1947 school year.

The dinner was in the Maryland tradition with turkey, dressing, sauerkraut, potatoes, peas, and all the trimmings. The girls were resplendent in their colorful dresses and the men were in their best bib and tucker.

Further celebration came with a program of Christmas music and a visit from Santa Claus—Dr. Hartley—who distributed symbolic CARE boxes to costumed girls representing European countries.

Festivities continued with a dance in the foyer. Everyone was in the Christmas mood, although the notes of "I've got to pack" sent many to their rooms before the final curfew.

Dormitory Life

During our four years of college life, the dormitory became a second home to us.

There are many things that make up a dorm—your very own room and roommate, the reception rooms where you may entertain guests, the dining hall with its Tudor Gothic architecture, the service room where you can gossip over the ironing boards, the foyer where dancing before and after dinner offers relaxation, the smoker where through the haze a bridge game is in session, answering phones while on hall duty, dashing across the campus to sign in before the Tower Clock stops striking, the mail box where you hope to find a letter. Here at Towson all of this is found in our two dorms, Newel Hall and Richmond Hall.

Also on the campus are the Barracks and the Cottage for men students. Here, too, typical college life is reflected in the arrangements, for one of the students, Jack Hart, is actually in charge of the barracks.

A dorm is more than just a series of rooms, however. It is also people. The faculty and staff who maintain it, your friends who live there with you—they are all part of dorm life, and we will be leaving many friends when we leave the dormitory.

Dormitory Life

Demonstration Night

Every spring the W. A. A. holds its traditional demonstration in the gym. Games, stunts, and gymnastics are a few of the special events sponsored.

The spirit that enlivens Demonstration Night is that reliable old American tradition—competition. Each class is all out for the coveted plaque that is awarded for the highest number of points gained in winning games, in dancing, in gymnastics, and the class stunt and songs.

Perhaps the most impressive moment of Demonstration Night comes just before the presentation of the plaque by the President of the college when each class sings its own special class song.
